REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT

The Winston-Salem Junior League has successfully completed its seventeenth year of service to the community. Its volunteers have worked conscientiously and well in three main fields—welfare, culture and education. The League has continued to finance and sponsor the Child Guidance Clinic under the supervision of the Mental Hygiene Society of Winston-Salem. The Arts, Education, and Play Committees have contributed to the League and the community through well-planned programs. Contact with the County Hospital has been maintained through a weekly visiting group. The Clinic, the education and cultural programs of the League have received financial support from a successful Beauty Parlor, Gift Shop and Thrift Shop, and profit from the Contemporary Theater Series sponsored for the first time this year. The services of a Professional Placement Secretary were available to the League through July 1939. The plan of inviting two or three League members who have never served on the Board, to attend Board meeting has been tried and approved.

The League was represented by two delegates at the Association Conference in Memphis. Mrs. H. W. Holland, Director of Region V, visited Winston-Salem in April 1939 and Miss Lettie Witherspoon, Field Representative of the Welfare Department, was here in May 1939 and March 1940. They gave us invaluable help and inspiration.

The real progress and achievement of the League can be measured by the splendid reports of the officers and committee chairmen which follow. The success of the League program has been due to these efficient leaders and to each member's faithful cooperation and willingness to work. Thank you for your enthusiastic support.

Respectfully submitted,

Aurelia B. Plumly,
President.

Report of the Second Vice-President

The following persons were invited to become provisional members of the Winston-Salem Junior League in December 1939:

Catherine Johnson
Ellen Moore
Nita Montague
Mary Louise Siewers
Adelaide Trotter
Marguerite Willingham
Olivia Womble

All seven accepted.

Respectfully submitted,

Reby Nissen Randolph,
Second Vice-President.

Recording Secretary's Report

During the past year the Junior League has held eight general meetings and two call meetings in the Robert E. Lee Hotel. The executive board has met nine times and had two call meetings.

The first meeting of the fiscal year was held in the Wachovia Museum on April 4th. The chairman of the Contemporary Theatre Series presented the plans for selling the Legitimate Theatre to Winston-Salem.

The May meeting was held in the Robert E. Lee Hotel on May 2nd. Doctor Leroy Butler introduced Doctor Lawson Lowery who spoke. The committee chairmen for 1939-40 were announced.

The budget for 1939-40 was presented and accepted at the June 5th meeting. The new plan for the admission of members was explained. The plan was accepted by the League.

The first fall meeting was held on the Marine Roof of the Robert E. Lee Hotel on October 10th. The admissions committee and the nominating committee were elected at this meeting. Doctor Richie, the new director of the Child Guidance Clinic spoke.

The advisability of sponsoring the Contemporary Theatre Series for another year was discussed at the November meeting.

The president, Miss Plumly, welcomed the 1939 provisionals as regular members of the Junior League at the December meeting. The chairman of the admissions committee presented the names of the 1939 provisionals.

The meeting on January 2nd had a full attendance. The president read a recommendation from the board that: if the names of the plays for the coming season are not known by the time of the last play of the present Series, that the League leave it to the discretion of the ways and means committee and the chairman of the Contemporary Theatre Series as to the time of the drive.

The annual provisional banquet was held on the Marine Roof of the Hotel on February 5th. The Balinese food was accompanied by most appropriate decorations. The skit was up to snuff with excellent take offs of several of the board members at a board meeting.

The March 5th meeting was full of gratifying reports. The Contemporary Theatre Series chairman reported a net profit of $3,000 for the year. The kindergarten group of the clinic increased its classes from once a week to twice each week. Although several members of the local League have been transferred to other Leagues, new girls have transferred to the Winston-Salem League.

Respectfully submitted,

Edna W. Siewers,
Recording Secretary.

Report of the Corresponding Secretary

Twenty-six letters have been written by the corresponding secretary during the year. Some of these concerned the following transfers of members: to the Winston-Salem League, Mrs. William S. Wilkinson from Norfolk, Mrs. George Rogers from Asheville, and Mrs. Nelson Howard from Indianapolis; from Winston-Salem to Greensboro Mrs. Brantley McAdoo, to Detroit Mrs. James Mann, to Wilmington Mrs. Hugh Galloway, to Louisville Mrs. Charles Frost.

I have kept a file of the correspondence, of all copies of the Winston-Salem Newssheet, and of the Junior League Magazine.

The yearbook for 1939-1940 has been compiled and edited.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary Belo M. Carlyle,
Corresponding Secretary.

Report of the Placement Chairman

The work which Junior League volunteers have done during the past year shows a wide variety of interest and a definite contribution toward the solution of community problems. These volunteers have worked regularly in sixteen projects not including writing for the magazine, fashion show modeling and extra Junior League activities which frequently arise.

Each group is organized with its own League chairman, who sits on the placement committee and who is responsible for the work of her volunteers. In addition, each welfare group has a professional adviser. Early in the fall the chairman of each welfare group, together with the placement chairman, visits the agencies and discusses the work for the year. In every case where possible the head of the agency meets with her volunteers to outline the year's program.

The League projects fall under five heads: Cultural, Welfare, Character Building, Educational and Money Making.

CULTURAL

I. Art Committee

Mrs. Charles Siewers, Chairman

This committee raised money to carry on the Community Art School for another year. Four girls headed by Mrs. Gordon Gray solicited funds and without their help the school might have been closed.

II. Children's Theatre

Mrs. Leo Bergman, Chairman

Two plays were given.

The first, a small play, "The Dragon that Giggled", was trouped to nine schools in November and the following volunteers were used: Director and general chairman 2; cast 7; scenery 4; costumes 6; properties 2; total 21.

In March, a big play, "Treasure Island", was given in Reynolds Auditorium. The following volunteers were used by the general chairman: Cast 12; costumes 5; properties 1; scenery 7; tickets 14; publicity 5; busses and automobiles 17; ushers 10; total 71.

III. Survey of children's recreational facilities.

This was done by two volunteers with the purpose of determining the need for Junior League children's plays and the type of play preferred by principals, teachers, and the children themselves.

WELFARE

I. The Junior League Child Guidance Clinic.

Mrs. Tom Rice, Chairman

Mrs. John Graham, Assistant Chairman

House and Grounds:

Two girls see that the building and grounds are well kept and decorate the clinic for special occasions.

Kindergarten:

Mrs. R. Lee Covington, Chairman

This is a new project just begun last November at the suggestion of Dr. Milton E. Kirkpatrick, head of the Clinical Division of the National Society for Mental Hygiene. Its purpose was to form a program in the clinic in which League members could participate and which would be of benefit to clinic patients and others who needed an opportunity to grow and express themselves in an environment that was more elastic than either their home or the class room.

One girl acts as the recorder who summarizes the general behavior of each child during the play period and presents her notes to the psychiatric case worker. Fourteen children representing a cross section of society attend the kindergarten which now meets twice a week.

Volunteers—8 (four are used in each class).

Chauffeurs:

These girls take children from the school to the clinic for psychiatric tests, take children to the kindergarten, and chauffeur the clinic patients and their parents. The group has changed constantly throughout the year because not many of the League girls like this work for any length of time. We have had ten girls doing it during the year but now only two are active.

II. City Welfare

Mrs. Gaither Jenkins, Chairman

Mrs. James Glenn, Assistant and active Chairman for a great part of the year.

The city welfare volunteers work with neglected and dependent children under the direction of Miss Clara Dowdy, case worker for the Juvenile Court. Under Miss Dowdy's supervision, the volunteers place these children in carefully selected boarding homes or free homes that have been approved by the Court. The volunteers visit and report on the homes periodically and continue caring for these children by bringing them to the Health Center, the Child Guidance Clinic, the dentist, and also by checking their school progress. Volunteers buy clothes for the children when so instructed by Miss Dowdy. The League volunteers also perform similar services for children at the Juvenile Relief Home. Once a month the girls make a permanent record from their note books for Miss Dowdy's file.

Volunteers, 7.

III. County Hospital

Mrs. Hugh Galloway, Chairman until January

Mrs. Philip Bolich, present chairman

Each week several girls go to the hospital to visit and to take magazines. There are a number of sustaining members who signed up for this work. Most of them make only one visit a month.

Volunteers, 8.

IV. School Visitors

Mrs. H. B. McCorkle, Chairman

During the past year, seven volunteer visiting teachers have handled 151 cases, making a total of 244 visits.

The cases might be classified as follows:

Grades (children working under capacity)....	49
Sickness .....	24
Free Lunch .....	4
Clothing .....	18
Home difficulty .....	3
Straight absentees .....	37
Moved (Address Unknown) .....	2
Problems in class rooms .....	5
Want to stop school .....	4
Carried to Child Guidance Clinic.....	5

Through regular monthly meetings, Miss Mary Elizabeth Judy, director of the Associated Charities, has guided the volunteers, who have become more familiar with the duties of a school visitor and have learned a great deal about the city and its existing agencies.

Regular volunteer visitors have been used at Central, Skyland, North Elementary, Wiley, and Hanes high schools.

Much has been done at Hanes High with children who were not working up to capacity. Many of these children are beyond the compulsory school age, but not old enough to work under the provisions of the Child Labor Act, and so a second volunteer has been added at this school to take care of this difficult but important assignment.

Miss Witherspoon pointed out that this is the only League doing a volunteer teaching job.

Mrs. W. L. Wharton, a member of the City School Board, is interviewing the principals to evaluate the League's volunteer work and find what type service the schools want and need. Before this school year is over, there will probably be a meeting with principals who desire this service next year to lay plans for a systematic way of handling the reporting of the cases in all schools.

Next year the League volunteers hope to have the advice of and to work in cooperation with Mrs. Prongay, who has been doing some of this work at Reynolds High this year and who was formerly a professional visiting teacher in Minneapolis.

V. Maternal Health Clinic

Miss Elizabeth Magie, Chairman

Two League girls work here regularly. The clinic is held every other week and generally has between twelve and twenty patients, about half coming from the county and half from the city. The volunteers meet the patients, take records and case histories and assist the nurses and doctors in every way possible. Recently, the clinic was recognized as a standard clinic by the Birth Control Federation of America. It is one of three in North Carolina to be thus recognized.

VI. Junior Red Cross

Mrs. Phin Horton, Jr., Chairman

Junior Red Cross, the children's part of the American Red Cross, has as its three-fold purpose service, fitness for service, or health, and world friendship. The organization functions through the school, classes joining as a group. Its program is almost unlimited as its work may be local, such as visiting the city's various institutions or sending favors and gifts to the inmates at holiday seasons or performing any service at home or school; national, such as sending attractive menu covers to government ships at Christmas or gifts to veterans in hospitals; or international, such as exchanging gifts or albums full of information with foreign Junior Red Cross members.

The Junior Red Cross Committee, composed of three Junior League members, appoints a teacher-sponsor in each school, enrolls the children annually, distributes literature, and plans the program most interesting and helpful to each particular group. A strong Junior Red Cross requires many hours of hard work on the part of the committee but the benefits received by the children and those to whom they render service justify all efforts.

CHARACTER BUILDING AGENCIES

I. Scouts

Miss Georgia Goodson, Chairman

There are nine volunteers working as leaders of Girl Scout troops and Brownie Packs. There are twelve Junior League girls who sit on the scout council. Also, there are four girls who act as members of different troop committees, whose duty it is to advise the troops concerning their individual problems.

As a leader of a troop or Brownie Pack, a girl has her weekly troop meetings and her monthly leaders' meetings. As a member of the council, a girl has her monthly meetings and her own committee meetings.

This year the regional Girl Scout Conference met in Winston-Salem in April, making extra committee work for all those connected with Girl Scouts.

II. Y. W. C. A.

As chairman and member of standing committees:

There are fourteen girls serving on Y. W. C. A. committees, such as Industrial Girls' Committee, the Y. W. C. A. Camp Committee, the Nominating Committee, the Girl Reserve Committee, etc. For the past three years a League girl has been chairman of the latter, which is one of the most important and hardest working committees.

As leader of Girl Reserves:

The work of a volunteer in the Girl Reserve department of the Y. W. C. A. consists in acting as an adviser in one of the eight clubs in which there are approximately 600 girls between the ages of 12 and 17. All advisers are volunteers, many of them high school teachers, three are Junior League girls.

As advisers, they try to help carry out the ideas of the girls in all their club programs, including their meetings, parties, trips to camp, or their interclub events during the year. They help the girls with research and program planning. It is mainly creative work, growing out of the needs of the girls themselves, and the variety means always that the volunteer work is interesting as well as instructive.

MONEY-MAKING

I. Gift Shop

Mrs. Charles E. Norfleet, Chairman

Mrs. Bowman Gray, Assistant Chairman

The duties of the girls who work at the shop are to wait on customers, rearrange the goods, help mark new stock, deliver, decorate the windows, etc. A girl must work here three hours a week for nine months to complete her year's work.

Volunteers, 23.

II. Thrift Shop

Mrs. Tom Follin, Chairman

The volunteers at the Thrift Shop collect and price the rummage, keep the shop looking attractive and wait on customers. The girls sign up for a three hour period one day a week for a month and must work nine months out of the year.

Volunteers, 12.

III. Contemporary Theatre

Practically the entire League cooperated in the campaign and sale of tickets last spring.

During the year the chairman and her assistant with the help of two or three volunteers arranged the details of each performance, saw to the reservation of seats, publicity, etc.

Report of Ways and Means Committee

Contemporary Theatre Series

The Contemporary Theatre Series, under the auspices of the Ways and Means Committee, presented four plays during the 1939-1940 season, namely, Golden Boy, written by Clifford Odets, starring Eric Linden; Miss Eva LeGallienne in Hedda Gabler, by Hendrik Ibsen; What A Life, a comedy by Clifford Goldsmith, starring the motion picture actor Jackie Coogan; these three plays being a presentation of the Legitimate Theatre Corporation of America. The fourth play was cancelled by the Legitimate Theatre Corporation and in its place we substituted "Springtime for Henry", starring Edward Everett Horton; this play produced and managed by Lawrence Rivers, Inc.

The Theatre Series project was handled on a subscription basis. A campaign of one week was held in May 1939, three classes of tickets sold, $7.50, $5.00 and $3.50, all seats reserved. It was stressed to the public that at the close of the week no more tickets would be available. This insured a guaranteed sum of money to meet expenses and psychologically helped in selling out the house.

A General Chairman and Team Captains were appointed, each captain being responsible for a certain number of workers.

The League voted that all seats be reserved for each individual performance, it thereby being necessary for patrons to reserve seats four times instead of reserving one seat for all four performances. This plan was found to be rather unsatisfactory as the public felt it more convenient to hold one seat for the entire season.

The Ways and Means Committee is indebted to the Contemporary Theatre Series Chairman, Mrs. Thomas Rice, who carried on the work throughout the entire year, to the Team Captains and to every member of the League for their intensive work during the campaign and with their help in reservation of seats; through this help and cooperation of the league membership, the project was most successful.

Report of the Child Guidance Clinic

April 1939—April 1940

During the first quarter, the Child Guidance Clinic operated under the old set-up, with Dr. Malcolm Kemp, the Acting Director, being available for consultation twice a month.

Dr. Richie, the new Director, took charge of the Clinic on July 1, 1939. The Clinic Board was set up at this time, composed of the Executive Committee of the Mental Hygiene Society, and the members from the Junior League, the President, the outgoing and incoming Clinic Chairmen. The Board has had a number of meetings throughout the year.

In order to widen the Clinic scope of service, Dr. Richie offered consultation to the Juvenile Court, Associated Charities, and County Department of Public Welfare. In addition, two school principals have utilized regular counselling service. Dr. Richie has made six addresses to different civic groups and has given a course in Child Placement to the Public Welfare Institute. Since December Dr. Richie has conducted a Teacher's Mental Hygiene Discussion Group.

The Social Worker, Mrs. Florence Ryan, has continued her contacts with the schools, with the Public Health Nurses, and with the parents. She has also conducted three play groups this year and has met with Junior League volunteers. A new type of service given by the Social Worker has been counselling work with a N.Y.A. Negro Group. The Social Worker has given four addresses to local clubs and has talked to four student groups visiting the Clinic.

The Psychologist has made a total of thirty-three talks before groups in the community dealing with some aspect of Mental Hygiene.

Another forward step was taken in February when the Clinic was able to offer one day a week's observation to a student of the Sociology Department of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

Eight Junior League volunteers have conducted a kindergarten group once a week from November 1, to March 1. Beginning with March there have been bi-weekly sessions. This service was developed from suggestions made by Dr. Milton Kirkpatrick, Director of the Division on Community Clinics of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene when he visited Winston-Salem in August 1939. Twenty-five members have contributed their time for chauffeuring and two members have served on the House and Grounds Committee.

Referrals still continue to be divided between schools, agencies and private applications. During the past year 249 cases have been given service at the Clinic.

Education Report

During this year the League has received generous help and cooperation from local professional workers and from the national staff in carrying on its work without a professional placement secretary. Mrs. Wharton, the director of a kindergarten, gave freely of her advice and of her time for consultation to the group who set up the kindergarten group at the Child Guidance Clinic as did the staff of the Clinic. The work of the School Visitors could be continued because of the guidance offered by Miss Judy, executive head of the Associated Charities. Miss Lettie Witherspoon, from the National Staff, assisted with the Provisional Course.

A meeting of the Provisionals was held in January. Mrs. A. Shelbourne Johnson, first vice-president, explained the purpose of the Junior League, and Mrs. R. A. McCuiston presented the history of the local League. The permanent money-raising projects were discussed as well as the activities of the play group. From January until March the Provisionals worked in the three shops. In March Miss Witherspoon held a ten-day course for the provisionals and interested League members, which included the following subjects for discussion: the responsibilities and opportunities of Junior League membership; the philosophy of social case work; untangling family problems; the community and the child; youth in conflict; community health; community planning. An examination followed the course after which each provisional was given an interview for placement.

The following talks were given at the general League meetings:

October—The Child Guidance Clinic, Dr. Richard Richie.

March—Social Responsibility, Miss Witherspoon.

Miss Cora Rowzee, Southern Regional Secretary of the Family Welfare Association of America, met with a small group to discuss the problems of a family welfare agency.

Respectfully submitted,

Elizabeth B. Graham,

Chairman of the Education Committee.

Arts Committee Report

The Arts Committee with other members of the League raised the money to keep the Community Arts School open for another year. Mrs. Gordon Gray was elected President of the Art School. Mrs. Charles Long has acted as Treasurer for several years. A contribution of $50.00 was made from our appropriation towards this work.

Several members are now serving on various Committees of the Wachovia Historical Society.

Respectfully submitted,

Elsie H. Siewers,

Chairman of Arts Committee.

Report of the Winston-Salem Play Group

During the fall of 1939 a one-act play, "The Dragon Who Giggled", by Elizabeth McCormick, was used for the trouping project by the Play Group of the Winston-Salem Junior League. On Wednesday, November 8th, the first performance was given at St. Paul's Episcopal Church for the children of Junior League girls and two or three nearby schools. A charge of ten and twenty-five cents was made. On Thursday, November 9th, the girls played at North Elementary at 10 a.m., and at Fairview at 11 a.m. On Friday, November 10th, Forest Park at 11 a.m., and Waughtown at 1 p.m. Monday, November 13th, West End School at 11:40 a.m. Tuesday, November 14th, Granville at 10 a.m., Central at 11:15 a.m. Wednesday, November 15th, South Park at 10 a.m., and Skyland at 11:30 a.m. All of the above are elementary schools and at each a charge of $5.00 was made, each child paying whatever possible, up to a nickel. The play was coached by a Junior League girl; the costumes were simple, and the scenery was very effective and easy to handle, having been painted on screens.

This year a survey was made in the schools by Miss Elizabeth Magie and Mrs. R. B. Crawford, Jr., to determine the type of production and also the type of play best liked by the children, and to find out whether or not the Play Group is bringing them the entertainment they like best.

On Friday afternoon, April 12th, at three o'clock in the Reynolds Memorial Auditorium the Play Group presented a three-act play "Treasure Island", by Dorothy Drew. The play was witnessed by between twenty-one and twenty-two hundred children and adults, and was most enthusiastically received. The entire cast was composed of Junior Chamber girls of the Play Group, and all scenery and costumes were designed and executed by Junior League girls. Mrs. Willis B. Underwood of Greensboro, N. C. directed the play. Tickets were sold by Junior League girls and also by school children, and to the class in each school selling the most tickets a prize of $1.00 was given. Admission was twenty-five cents for children and fifty cents for adults. Approximately five hundred free tickets were given to underprivileged children. Free transportation was furnished by the Play Group to bring the children from all parts of town. Eight Greyhound busses were used, one making two trips, and five Duke Power busses. The Superintendent of the schools and also the principals were very cooperative, in that they let the schools out early in order to get to the show on time. The Parent-Teachers Association also helped a great deal with the publicity and by furnishing cars to help with the transportation of the children.

At present a Children's Theatre committee composed of three members of the local P. T. A., three school principals and three members of the Junior League, is being organized. This committee will plan next year's program of child entertainment, and we hope to be able to have a series program which will be much broader in scope than heretofore, thus bringing to the children of Winston-Salem more entertainment, as well as more worth while entertainment.

Respectfully submitted,

Lillian Cromer Bergman,
Chairman.

Report of the City Editor of the Junior League Magazine

The amount of material submitted to the City Editor has been very small this past year. We have been unable to get anything published except a few lines in the January Ways and Means issue. However, Mary Belo Carlyle, Reby Randolph, Cortlandt Creech, Dorothy Nicholson, and Louise Beard submitted splendid manuscripts that showed much time and effort were expended. Elizabeth Jerome submitted in February an excellent water color for the colored frontispiece contest.

The Journal and Sentinel Newspapers very graciously allowed us to send in some fifteen or twenty of their pictures of League girls and League activities. Some of these are being held by the magazine staff for possible use later in the year.

Respectfully submitted,

Dorris C. Wilkinson,
City Editor.
